Just landed in Brisbane. Waved to the Monk family and the Jenkyn crew as I admired life in Queensland the state of destruction.

What a disgusting sight that greets our incoming passengers. Showcasing some of the enormous toxic ponds and the pock marked landscape which is quite literally only a stones throw from Cecil Plains and effectively Brisbane.

Horrifying to see it from the air and know that good people are suffering amidst the ugliness. Coexistence my arse.

4 YEARS AGO JOHN JENKYN HAD NO IDEA WHAT LIVING WITH THE COAL BED METHANE INDUSTRY WOULD BE LIKE

- 425 WELLS WITHIN 2km
- 18 compressor stations & 6 holding ponds within 4km
- 24 hour a day drilling
- Traffic that never stops
- Unexplained rashes
- Respiratory problems
- Independent testing shows his water & air quality IS adversely impacted by Hydraulic Fracturing

John lives in the Kenya Gas Field, Surat Basin, Queensland, Australia.

Dear Mr Jenkyn

Re: Complaint to Community Information Line

I refer to your complaint to QGC's Community Information Line on 31 July 2013 and subsequent discussions with me regarding noise, dust, and water quality concerns at your property above.

QGC acknowledges your complaint, although during my visit to your property on 31 July 2013 and 1 August 2013 I did not observe any dust or noise issues. As discussed however, in response to your concerns, we have organised for the application of GRT7000 (a polymer-based dust suppressant) on the Chinchilla-Tara Rd outside your property.

In relation to your concerns about the water quality in your dam please advise a suitable time for QGC take water quality samples.

QGC takes its responsibilities within the local community very seriously and I would encourage you to contact me directly when you have any concerns in the future.

If you require any further information, please contact me on (07) 4680 7616.

Yours sincerely

I have a thought for people. The other day a friend drove me around a small corner of the gas fields around here. We first witnessed massive flares. We saw wells and pipelines being pushed into rural residential estates, now a lot of the resistance there has moved it is open slather for psychopaths like the Newman Government and British Gas. Then we witnessed the toxic waste disposal ponds John Jenkyn has to live over the road from. Off then to see where poor quality RO water is being disposed of under the cloak of beneficial use and irrigation. The first farm of course is taking the water, now remember he had no water allocation, he is on marginal land that will have poor to disastrous results anyway. But the real insult here is as the draw-down nears the predicted 1500 meters all the farmers currently sustainably using the aquifers will have no water. These farmers are on prime agricultural land that effectively is one of the food bowls of Australia. So today many bores on the better country are running dry and blowing gas, this will destroy the farming enterprise, but interestingly enough once the CSG water is gone so too will these farmers who are taking the RO water be gone. How long will that be, I would tip less than five years, but it is yet to be seen if the government or the farmers are right on this. To date our predictions are falling into place with frightening accuracy. So the water the farmer never had on marginal land will be gone, he can only produce salt resistant crops anyway. The water the farmer who is growing your bread and breaky with will be long gone. The rivers will be toxic, the overland flow will be toxic, the cattle will be toxic. Am I missing something here. Are we morons. 1500 meters of fossil water gone for a million years, what is it that I am missing, please tell me. So then we travelled onto another friends place, look up Joe's bend on youtube. Joe and I are cranky old bastards but we have a rare thing in common, that is common sense. His family and my family also refused access to the gas co's. Now we have a TOXIC WASTE DUMP directly next door and up-gradient from our property that candrill newman has now called beneficial use and probably signed the document with a green pen to greenwash the insanity. That salt is now good stuff, that green pen changed radioactive drill muds and water, raw poo, treated effluent, CSG water, no longer needs to be monitored as the toxic waste dump that it is. Joe has a farmer irrigating CSG water, treated water, RO treated water at that. This is Origin water, this is no doubt the same water that Origin couldnt treat to safe drinking water standards and got an exception to test it not before they dump it into the Condamine River but in fact way and I mean way downstream once it is mixed into the river flow. So now there are two cranky old bastards whinging about water that is being dumped up-gradient from their properties. John Jenkyn has one over the road. Chinchilla Weir is accepting RO water that I dont believe can be treated clean and Origin's own testing identifies it to have radioactive contamination. I believe Chinchilla already has such a dump next door. Roma is complaining about such a dump. Gracemere up north acents

so true

~Anyone who was BORN in the 50's, 60's, 70's... We are the last generation who played in the street. We are the 1st who played video games, the last to record songs off the radio on a cassette tape. We walked over a mile w/no worries on being taken... We learned how to program the VCR before anyone else, we played from Atari to Nintendo..We are the generation of Tom and Jerry, Looney Toons, Captain Kangaroo. We traveled in cars w/out seat belts or air-bags, lived without cell phones. We did not have flat screens, surround sound, iPods, Facebook, Twitter, computers or the Internet...But nevertheless we had a GREAT time ♥ Re-post if you're a 50's, 60's or 70's baby!! And people read on down the page, capture the images and if you are in NSW stick them up Hazzards arse when he says this industry takes the size of a dinner plate, or this industry can co-exist. It probably can co-exist with a nuclear melt down. This is the very view John has of the flare that lights my sky and stinks out my life. The potential health impact is so frightening. Gas companies see those in the way as collateral damage. I warn every region this is their future if you allow this industry in. Be aware John and Jo and family have complained to the Regulatory body, you know the CSG compliance unit, you know, the one enforcing the most stringent of conditions. This industry exists only where there is no regulation, sorry I mean self regulation, same thing really. The CSG compliance unit did exactly what its puppet masters told them to do... See More

Publisher, Melbourne Books, has very kindly agreed to publish Gasland Refugees an exposé of the unconventional gas industry stretching from Tara, Queensland to Garfield County, Colorado.

It will be out in ebook form on Amazon before Christmas at A$4.99 and the print version will follow at around $30.

Any income derived by my co-author, Tara Meixsell, and I will be donated equally to Lock the Gate and an organisation in the US with similar aims and principles to LTG.

Melbourne Books are supporters of the cause and have stuck their necks out taking this project on. In the lead-up to the release I intend to unashamedly promote this exposé and excerpts will appear regularly on this page. I will also be asking many of you to help, either personally, or via this page.

I want this book to be a success for Melbourne Books and the bodies opposing unconventional gas that will benefit from such success.

If inclined, please share this post.

BIOSECURITY WORKSHOP - 21 Novemgbr, 2014

Attendance - FREE
Time: 9:00-3:30pm
Venue: Depeened @ Miles, 21 Murrilla St, Miles QLD 4415

The Livestock Biosecurity Network, in collaboration with the Surat Basin Pest Management Network, is presenting an interactive pilot workshop to assist landowners/ land managers to develop an effective and manageable on-farm biosecurity plan.

The strategic importance of maintaining a Property Biosecurity Management Plan will be demonstrated using recent (real life) examples of how they have been used in property access negotiations and as a risk assessment tool.

Key areas to be addressed on the day include: farm animal control/ management, minimising and controlling weed seed spread from vehicles and equipment, and animal health management. The management of weed seed spread has made significant media attention. This workshop has been designed to present the most accurate and recent information through experienced speakers.

The outcome from this workshop is gaining the right information and the right tools to effectively manage biosecurity on your property and to identify real threats.

Speakers

- Mr Craig Hunter, Biosecurity Queensland, Dept of Agriculture Fisheries and Forestry (DAFF) - Biosecurity Officer based in Dalby. Across many of the Biosecurity threats in the region and further afield.
- Ms Wyn McIntyre, Biosecurity Queensland, Dept of Agriculture Fisheries and Forestry (DAFF) - Queensland Grains Biosecurity Officer for Grains Biosecurity network helping farmers to identify and adopt on-farm biosecurity practices aimed at protecting their farms from unwanted pests.
- Mr Steven Keating, Landowner and Director of Australia Agricultural & Environmental Solutions - Landholder and contractor perspective of biosecurity threats across multiple industries - reactive and proactive approaches. Steven was a previous employee of Biosecurity Queensland.
- Dr Sarah Jane Wilson, LBN Regional Officer for Queensland - Leads the new national effort to boost on-farm awareness of biosecurity risks for livestock producers in Queensland.

This is the privately own Noxious Shit pond down the road, they keep putting it in and as you see it keeps evaporating away all except the last of it as you can almost see the turds, this is supposed to be the CSG water as the raw sewage goes in the unlined pond behind this one were they flow together to flow in to another pond to be pumped out on to the ground to run into Nine Mile creek

The poisoning of Australia and the slow death that the mad rush for gas is wreaking on our valuable countryside and bushlands is heartbreaking to all of us who love this country. Thanks to Brian Monk and John Jenkyn for informing us and doing what no journalist will do, in reporting it. But it's a daily missive from hell, and never forget that these brave farmers are doing it tough, hanging in there against all odds, against an industry that's hell bent on stealing their land, and yes - killing them in the process. You guys have all my respect and admiration. Please befriend these brave men, for they are truly worthy of our attention, and our full support for their protest.

The tank must be getting low as I had a shower almost 2 hours ago got to lean to keep my mouth shut as it taste like lemon juice and stings the eyes about the same but still have that oily taste like cold sausage roll and like a milk coating over the eyes and those hair like feeling in the throate. Maybe I should put some water in the fridge as lemon juice is good on a hot day and QLD health say it is fine to drink
